CHURCHES

METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday, April 24, 1921.
Sunday school, 9:45 a. m. We will expect you there on time. Follow the crowd—big, little, old and young are coming. Classes for all.
Preaching morning and evening by the pastor, 11:00 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Sermons to the point and of vital interest. Good singing and good fellowship. Come hear the Word. No lecture.
Senior League, 6:30 p. m. A good program is being prepared. Announcement of the coming social will be made.
A hearse is a poor vehicle in which to go to church. Better go while you are alive, and attend a live church. The friendly church.
R. B. Freeman, Pastor.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

All regular services at regular hours.
The Restoration movement (known as the Christian Church) does not claim to be all the church, neither is it claimed that all Christians are included in its number, but it does claim to be a part of the true church of Christ and claims for its mission the preaching of the restoration message, the return to the church as it was on Pentecost, A. D. 34, the date of the Church's establishment.
Chas. D. Poston, Minister.

MISSIONARY NOTES

The Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist church met in regular business session at the home of Mrs. Spade, Thursday, April 14th. At one o'clock a number of ladies gathered to do some sewing and good results were accomplished.
The house was called to order promptly at three o'clock by the president, the general devotional exercises carried out and good reports from all committees were read. About fifty calls to sick and strangers were reported. All members are urged to visit the sick and strangers and report those in need of food or clothing to the superintendent of supplies.

Open discussions of other small matters and the general progress of the society followed.

A motion made and carried that we send an invitation to the ladies of the Texico church to spend the day with us at our next social meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. D. M. Hockenull, the last Thursday in April.

The house adjourned to meet Thursday, April 20th with Mrs. Sam Bratton at mission study.

SINGING CONVENTION NEWS

The Curry Singing Convention met at Ranchvale April 17, for the first regular meeting of the year.

The forenoon was spent in singing of different class songs and special songs by leaders. Dinner was spread at 12:30 and everyone expressed that as the best hour of all. A short program was rendered in the afternoon, including duets, male quartets, and songs led by various leaders.

Prof. Bobo from Commanche, Texas, was with us and did some fine singing. He is representing the Progressive Music Co., of Commanche. We are glad to have him with us, and extend a cordial welcome to one and all to come to Curry County if you want to hear some good singing.

Nominating and program committees met and elected Prof. Oscar Williams, chairman; and Prof. C. H. Conway, Secretary. The following were nominated and elected for the ensuing year: Prof. Jno. F. Taylor, President; Prof. J. D. Welch, vice president; Miss Lula Mitchell, Secretary; advisory committee, Charlie White, J. A. Conway and H. W. Jennings.

The committee also recommends that the advisory committee act as committee to draft constitution and by-laws for this convention and report at next regular meeting of convention.

The convention adjourned at 4:30 to meet again at Hollene on the third Sunday in June.

Anyone wishing a convention badge may get one by notifying the secretary at Havener, N. M. If you are a singer, get a badge and show your colors.

Signed, Jno. F. Taylor,
Jeff D. Welch,
Miss Lula Mitchell.

ENJOYED PICNIC

Sunday was very pleasantly spent by many people from Clovis who attended the singing convention at Ranchvale. Many of the young people had little picnic parties of their own, at the same time taking in the convention. Among these was one composed of Miss Thelma Wilkinson, Gordon Wicks, Miss Grace Wicks, Wendell Foreman, Miss Ruth Hough, Miss Croft, Miss Edna Sanders, Solon Foreman, Miss Minnie Schultz and Mr. Oliver Buster. Dinner was spread under some trees about a mile east of the school house, the dinner consisting of a variety of sandwiches, fruit salad, deviled eggs, pickles, chocolate pies, variety of cake and pineapple cream.

Answers to last week's riddles.

1. Tom's uncle's sister was Tom's mother.
2. If a man says he has no brothers and sisters, his father would have only one son—himself. Thus, if what he says is put in simple language, it is, "That man's father is myself." This means that the picture at which he is looking is that of his own son.
3. To begin with, one piece of string was 12 inches long and the other 24 inches long. After cutting 6 inches off each piece, the shorter piece was 6 inches long and the longer piece was 18 inches long.

New riddles—answered next week.

1. Did George walk around the monkey?
George was trying to tease the monkey which was seated on top of a barrel-organ. But, although he walked all around the organ, the monkey always turned so as to face the boy the whole time. When the boy has walked around the organ, has he walked around the monkey?

2. What did the cork cost?

A bottle and a cork cost 5 cents. If the bottle cost 4 cents more than the cork, what did the cork cost?

3. How much are eggs?

"What are eggs a dozen?" Nellie asked.

"Two more for 24 cents," replied the grocer, "would make them 2 cents per dozen less."

"Then I will take 24 cents worth," said Nellie.

4. How fast was the horse walking?

I was walking along a country road steadily at the rate of four miles an hour. I saw a horse and cart going in the same direction and when I saw them they were exactly 220 yards ahead of me. I overtook them in 20 minutes. At what rate was the horse walking?

Why do not soldiers wear armor when they go to war?

Now, boys, is that interesting enough?

Soldiers do not wear armor in these days because they can fight better without it. Even if they wore it, the armor would not protect them now as it did those men who long ago went forth to war clad all over in armor. Because now, bullets can pierce armor as easily as a stone goes through a window. Men wore armor long ago because guns had not then been invented. They fought with swords and spears, arrows and battle-axes. Against these, good armor would protect a man, for it was almost impossible to kill an armored knight in battle. He wore a steel helmet and steel coat; his legs and feet also were encased in steel. The front part of his helmet could be raised but on going into battle he lowered it and was completely protected. If by any chance he did lose this vizor, as it was called, there was a danger of his having an arrow or spear thrust into his eye.

The common soldiers did not have complete armor like a knight, and many of them were killed. What a knight most feared was that he might be stunned by a blow on the head from a battle-axe and be taken prisoner. If that happened he might be killed after he had fallen. So he used to wear a rich flowing cape or robe over his armor to show that he was a man of wealth and could pay ransom if his life was spared. But when gun-powder came into use, the armored knight and unprotected soldier were placed in the same position, as a bullet could kill either one of them. Therefore, the armor was abandoned.

The battle chargers of which we read were great cart horses. When armor was abandoned, then of course, lighter and swifter horses were used, so the cavalry could move more quickly, and foot soldiers could march faster and farther.

The Duck.

Last week I promised to tell why a duck never gets wet. There are many reasons.

First, all feathers on a duck's body are thick and smooth. The feathers being so thick, the water does not come in contact with the air underneath the feathers. This is one of the reasons why the duck's skin is kept dry and warm.

However, this alone would not be sufficient to keep the duck from getting wet. There is an opening or gland on the back of the duck near the tail. It is there for the purpose of making oil or grease, and it makes this oil to smear over its feathers to make them extremely smooth and slippery, just as oil is used to lubricate a bicycle.

Thus the water is kept from wetting the feathers, and the skin and feathers both are kept dry.

It is interesting to watch ducks swimming on a pond.

NO SPORT IN HUNTING SEAL

Gathering in of the Helpless Creatures Simply Evolves Itself Into a Merciless Slaughter.

Hunting the seal from the ice, storm-swept coast of Newfoundland is not sport; it is toil, whereby in part the Newfoundlanders win his sennery measure of bread, says Spare Moments. The hunt is a dull and hideous slaughter, scurrying pack and the swinging and thrust of an iron-shod gaff, a merciless raining of blows, with a silent waste of ice all splashed with red at the end of it. There is no sport in this, nor is there any fear of hurt, for the seal pleads and whines like a child, even while the gaff is falling; but the chase is beset with multitudinous and unfore-shadowed perils. The wind gathers the ice into floes and jams it up against the coast, an immeasurable, jagged expanse of it interspersed with plains; then the Newfoundlanders takes his food and his goggles, and sets out from his little harbor, starting at midnight that he may come up with the pack at dawn. But the wind which sweeps the ice in inevitably sweeps it out again without warning in an hour, or a day or a week; nor does it pause to consider the situation of the men who are 20 miles off shore. It veers and freshens and drives the whole mass, grinding and heaving, far out to sea, where it disperses it into its separate fragments.

The lives of the hunters depend upon the watchfulness of the attenuated line of lookouts, from the women on the headland to the first sentinel within signaling distance.

REDPATH-HORNER CHAUTAUQUA

SPRING RECITAL

The recital given by the Nevins Harmony Club and Treble Cleff Club at the Methodist Church on last Thursday evening was one of unusual interest and pleasure. The opening chorus of about forty voices, composed of members from each club, joined in singing the beautiful song, "Oh Fair New Mexico." The audience was very large and appreciative, and the program, though lengthy, held it with intense interest from beginning to end. The high class music rendered would be a credit to pupils of much greater age and experience. It would be impossible to mention separately the various numbers but, each was enthusiastically received and generously applauded. Although lengthy, the program, varied as it was, proved anything but tiresome. It would be difficult to find a more beautiful aggregation of girls than those who participated in the two drills, "When Grandma was Young," and "Little Maids from Japan." The first dressed in Colonial costume and with powdered hair and sparkling eyes made a picture long to be remembered but could not surpass in dainty beauty and coquetry the charming little Jap maids. The class spirit manifested by the interest and enthusiasm of each member tended to make the evening one of unbounded success for in the opening Grieg number, "To Spring," played by Ruth Scott, to the closing one, "Tales of Hoffman, Barcarolle," by Mary Childers.

McGEE WELL IS SHOT—OUTCOME IS DOUBTFUL.

Conflicting reports have been received regarding the outcome of the McGee No. 1 well in Quay County, which was shot last Sunday evening. One report stated that oil spouted over the derrick and had settled the dust for some distance around the rig, while another has it that the only oil in evidence was that which was used to lubricate the machinery.

Soon after the shot the hole had bridged over, and those interested are anxiously awaiting the drilling out of the hole.

"The Idol Dancer," the production which nearly cost D. W. Griffith and his company their lives, is a masterful blending of love, drama and comedy as only Griffith knows how to blend them, with a mysterious dancing beauty, who is the quest of white men derelicts in the South Seas, as the heroine, will be presented at the Lyceum Theatre Saturday night.

In a beautiful South Sea setting Griffith, the genius, unfolds a dramatic love conflict fanned by a mysterious dancing beauty to a blazing heat between a Puritan youth awaiting the White Plague's toll and the magnificently reckless gin-loving young beachcomber.

Then the Blackbird, exploiter of native labor, finds her shrine and breaks the fetters of longing for the Puritan and awakens the gin-sot derelict to manhood. A production of master touches, abundant in comedy to contrast the Island love fervor. Be sure and see this master production at the Lyceum Saturday night.
